

I have extensive experience in the mental health field on boards, ethics committees, safety committees, and creating addiction treatment curriculum for Vancouver Coastal Health. I am the former Vice President of the board of directors for the Association of Cooperative Counselling Therapists of Canada where I also served as the ethics committee liaison and a member of the membership committee.

Jeremy Williams is Canadian Certified Addiction Counsellor and Registered Therapeutic Counsellor from Vancouver, BC. Jeremy has worked in the mental health field for over five years after twenty years of lived experience with addiction and mental health.

Advocacy and human rights are also a closely held passion for Jeremy, and as a BCGEU union steward, member at large, local chair, and elected committee member of the Human Rights and Equity committee, he balances his mental health work with advocacy for worker's and human rights.

Jeremy is also the former Vice President of the board of directors for the Association of Cooperative Counselling Therapists of Canada and was instrumental in creating their first Equity Committee and championing equity, diversity, and inclusion.

A career built around working with individuals from all walks of life who struggle with addiction, mental health, homelessness, racism, discrimination, housing insecurity, HIV, and poverty has been a lifelong goal for Jeremy.

In his spare time, Jeremy enjoys cooking, gaming, baking, and is a budding plant daddy with over forty houseplants.
